It is understood here that one of the big speeches of the campaign will be made by the senator at Palmyra where it is said he will go into legislation relating to army and navy appropriations.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE HOME OF FREE SPEECH

By Frederic J. Haskin

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—If you have a message for mankind and the unkind editors won't let you print it; if you have invented a new idea and want to tell the world about it; if you feel called upon to conduct a propaganda for anarchy, universal peace or the abolition of high collars; if, in a word, your greatest joy is to hear yourself talk and make others hear you, come to New York. This is your earthly paradise—the home of free speech. You can set up a step ladder on a street corner and talk as long as you want to about anything you please. The police will not interfere with you; they will protect you. And out of the endless mob that tramps past your perch you can get sympathetic listeners for your creed if any there be on earth.

There is a general impression about the police, often shared by the policemen themselves, that it is their duty to disperse any gathering which shows the slightest sign of becoming noisy or excited. In a good many cities such is the police practice. Not so in New York. The policemen here are told that free speech is an inalienable, constitutional right, that it is to be protected, and to be regulated only so far as necessary for its preservation. The police commissioner and the chief inspector have both treated these subjects at length in the Police Bulletin. They take the advanced ground that a speaker on the streets has a right to lambast the existing order of things just as vehemently as he wants to, and to advocate any other order he chooses just as enthusiastically as he likes, provided only he does not recommend anything more dangerous than words and votes as means of making the change.

If it is your honest and sincere opinion that all millionaires should be made to divide their money among the people, and that the working day should be limited to three hours with two hours for lunch, you have a perfect right to recommend these things; to show up the millionaires for the heartless land pirates that they are, and to urge for their overthrow. You can found a national party, adopt your propaganda as a platform, and vote it into effect. But you can not recommend throwing bricks at the millionaires or closing the shops by main force.

Unless you are a religious speaker, you do not need a permit. You merely tell the police where you want to hold your meeting, and if the place is not convenient, they will assign you another. If you wish, they will assign you several corners.

Religious speakers must have a permit. When asked why this distinction was made, the deputy commissioner in charge of street speakers admitted he did not know. He suggested asking the alderman who it was a good thing to have some means of keeping track of the religious orators. In a town where about every religion on earth is represented, a perfectly well-meaning sermon delivered at the wrong corner may result in a lot of broken glass and black eyes. This was proved by a certain Italian Protestant who went to the Italian quarter in Brooklyn, and began telling the why and how of this conversion to his faith. There were some people around that did not enjoy the recital, and the preacher had to leave suddenly and return no more.

There is no discrimination in the granting of these permits to hold religious meetings. You are not allowed to take up a collection, and you must have three references. That is about all that is required. If you make trouble in one place, you will be moved to another, but you will not be suppressed unless it appears that your only object is to make trouble. One of the most persistent street speakers in New York is Theodore Nelson, a West Indian, who addresses crowds in Madison Square almost every day. He talks with real eloquence and keeps his large crowds interested. He is a religious speaker

- 2 Sponge him all over with cool water every three hours.
- 3 Put wet cloths on his head.
- 4 Call the doctor.
- 5 Lighten his food at once. If you're nursing him, cut down the nursings. If you aren't nursing him, put him on the food nearest to mother's milk.

Nestlé's Food

(A Complete Food—Not a Milk Modifier)

The most delicate baby can digest it—it is as safe as mother's milk itself.

Don't give him cow's milk. Raw cow's milk is usually the cause of summer fever and summer diarrhea. And summer diarrhea takes more babies from loving arms than any other cause.

Nestlé's is the milk of healthy cows in clean dairies. The parts too heavy for your baby are modified—these things your baby needs that are not in cow's milk are added. Reduced to a powder, packed in air-tight cans, no germ or sickness can get near it. You add only fresh water, and know that you are giving your baby health and strength in each bottle of Nestlé's Food.

Nestlé's will not spoil or sour, because you add only water, boil one minute and it is ready. It is a complete food. Where one mother used Nestlé's seven years ago—five use it today. As the "Better Babies" movement grows, so also grows the use of Nestlé's. Send the coupon for a FREE Trial Package of 12 feedings and a book about babies by specialists.

MRS. O'SHAUGHNESSY WRITES OF MEXICO

Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy.

An interesting contribution to the discussion of Mexico is the recently published "A Diplomat's Wife in Mexico," by Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, wife of the American chargé d'affaires in Mexico City during the first half of the Huerta regime, whose work there was terminated at the time of the Vera Cruz incident. The book is in the form of letters to the writer's mother and it supports very heartily the Huerta cause.

commissioner was getting a hundred dollars a week and expenses.

There is, of course, a great deal of rot and foolishness in this perennial and ever-growing stream of street corner oratory. There is also a lot of sound sense and logical argument, and not a little information worth having. Above all, it is free expression of the freest, unhampered by any interest. These collarless, sweating orators and their unruly, back-talking audiences, are learning to try out their ideas and form their opinions. These foreigners, only half masters of English, are hearing about national questions. And all of them are learning to think for themselves—and for America.

In Ugly, Inflamed, Red Blotches. Could Not Rest with Itching and Burning. Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My daughter was troubled for five years with eczema on her face. It would break out in ugly inflamed red blotches all over her face so badly she could not rest with the itching and burning. There were ugly scales left on her face all the time from scratching and she was worse in the daytime as the heat irritated it.

"Finally we tried Cuticura Soap and found it was good, and afterward we learned of the Cuticura Ointment. Before I used one box of Cuticura Ointment there was a decided change, and we used nearly three boxes of Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap and was completely healed." (Signed) R. N. MOTORCYCLE STREET SWEEPER

The adaptable motorcycle is now being utilized efficiently in the street cleaning service of Los Angeles. One man on a motorcycle sweeper will do the work of twenty men working by hand. The sweeper is capable of a speed of from two to twenty miles an hour but eight miles is found the most efficient. It carries its own dirt wagon, taking up its dirt as gathered. Its brush is sixty inches wide and comes immediately in front of the wheels. Its power is provided by a two-cylinder motor.

THE TRUTH ABOUT WISCONSIN TAXES

Governor Philipp's administration, viewed from any angle, has been a dismal and lamentable failure, and there remains for republican decision but one question: Who shall succeed him? That question was practically answered by the republican conference which, although attended by many McGovern men, named W. H. Hatton without a dissenting vote.

In a statement recently issued Speaker L. C. Whittet, the governor's $4,500 "Executive Accountant", attempted to show that the tax levied for the state in 1914 was about $2,000,000 less than it should have been and that Governor Philipp was obliged to meet a deficiency equal to this amount.

In refutation of this charge L. B. Nagler, assistant secretary of state, said:

It is true, as Mr. Whittet says, that Governor McGovern proposed to Secretary of State Donald that the state tax for 1914 be reduced to about half the amount levied in 1913, which was $7,655,000. But Mr. Donald refused to comply and fixed the levy at $5,272,000. This amount, together with the income from other sources, was sufficient to meet all governmental requirements and add $44,000 to the general fund balance which at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1915, amounted to $3,211,000, the largest in the history of the state.

Governor Philipp began his first full fiscal year on July 1, 1915, with this huge balance in the general fund. All current expenses of the state were met and on February 1, 1916, just before the last tax money was paid, the balance was over $1,000,000. In the face of these facts, Mr. Whittet and Governor Philipp have the audacity to declare that the state taxes of 1914 were insufficient to meet the obligations.

Let us further follow Mr. Nagler's reasoning:

To show you to what extent these gentlemen are willing to go in their campaign of misrepresentation, let me call your attention to the fact that the state tax levy of 1915 was made by the legislature, of which Mr. Whittet was a very influential member. At the time this was done the legislature had been in session eight months, long enough to become informed on state finances. An elaborate budget was prepared showing where every dollar was to be expended. Then the legislature, under the guidance of Governor Philipp, and with all the facts before it, levied the state tax, taking the matter out of the hands of the secretary of state in whom it was vested in 1869. The state tax amounted to $4,430,700.

Now remember, a year ago last March Governor Philipp said $4,000,000 of appropriations made in 1913 were omitted from the state tax levy of 1914. Will he or Mr. Whittet explain if all the appropriations of 1915 were included in the tax levy of that year, for which the secretary of state was in no manner responsible? If they really believe their assertion that the state tax of 1914 was too low, what possible justification can they offer for making the next levy still lower?

Referring to what Mr. Whittet termed a "gentlemen's agreement" by which certain appropriations for outlays were to be left uncalled for until after July 1, 1915, Mr. Nagler said the records disprove Mr. Whittet's every assertion.

The outlays, or capital expenditures, for charitable and penal institutions last year amounted to less than $220,000, yet Mr. Whittet says $300,000 of this should have been borne by the McGovern administration. The university outlays amounted to less than $300,000, of which, Mr. Whittet would have the voters believe, $800,000 was inherited from the former administration. It is evident that Mr. Whittet holds the public intelligence in haughty contempt.

The crux of the whole farce is that Governor Philipp did exactly what Governor McGovern attempted in vain. McGovern appealed to the secretary of state but was turned down; Philipp appealed to the legislature, and the members, recognizing their master's voice, obeyed. The result is that at this time, six months before the next taxes are paid, the balance in the general fund is very little larger than it was last February when the fund was replenished. The obvious purpose of Mr. Whittet's preposterous statement was to find a goat for the monumental failure of Governor Philipp's financial policy.

EVERYBODY'S OBLIGATION

Even as the personnel of our militia on the border comprises all conditions of life—businessmen, educators, mechanics, students, laborers—so the opportunity offered by the Citizens' Patriotic Protective association to assist in its work of providing for soldiers' dependents will strike a responsive chord in every quarter of La Crosse. The open letter of the association, published on the first page of this issue, only emphasizes what everyone must realize: that in undertaking responsibility for the defense of all of us, the militiamen have laid upon all of us the responsibility for their dependents. They have laid down their family burdens to assume for the community the most onerous and dangerous of all the obligations of citizenship. It is no more than simple fairness that we assume their family obligations until their return.

The citizen who appreciates that logic—and who can escape it—will welcome the opportunity to do his share. It was a fine thing of the employers to try to carry the whole load, but it is more fitting, altogether more just, that the entire community represented by our soldiers on the border should take part in doing the service we owe to the "folks at home".

WILSON MUST FACE THE ISSUE

The suggestion of the administration that in this campaign "politics should stop at the water's edge", has drawn the fire of the Hughes people. They reply that President Wilson is making an issue of what he believes to be the eminent success with which he has handled the situations growing out of the European war, and that hence the republicans are justified in adversely criticising those phases of his diplomatic program which they deem to involve error. President Wilson says that Mr. Hughes' attacks on the foreign policy are handicapping him in his present negotiations; the republicans reply that he brought the matter into politics and must take his medicine.

Political discussion of our prevailing foreign policy is inevitable. It is fundamental in a democracy that the administration must stand or fall upon its performances, and the most important performance of the Wilson administration has been its foreign affairs. Loose discussion of them is unpatriotic, nor are political generalities in good standing, but definite, constructive criticism is fair and proper.

The Servant Problem

"And how long were you in your last place?" asked Mrs. Croxley, as the most promising and, at the same time, the plainest of the applicants for the vacant situation appeared before her.

"Well, mum," replied the girl, "if I tell the truth, I was no sooner in than I was out again."

"How extraordinary! Can you account for it?"

"No, mum, unless it is that I'm good-looking—not that I say I am, but the lady says to me, 'Your master has a liking for pretty faces, and is a good judge of beauty.'"

"I shouldn't think that was the reason. Come, now, tell me. Did anything else transpire?"

"Not another thing. I just looked at her and said that from what I could see of things her husband had made at least one mistake. When I came to my senses I was lying at the foot of the steps with my box on top of me."

Modern Wonders

A Welshman visiting London saw "Please ring the bell" written on a door. He did so and in a moment a powdered little footman appeared and inquired:

"Well, what do you want?"

"I want nothing," said the Welshman. "I only rang the bell because it says so here."

"Oh! I suppose you've come from the land where nannys go to grow on gooseberry bushes?"

"Yes," said the Welshman, "but in London I see stranger sights still, for you've only to press a button and a monkey pops out."

Out of the Mouths of Kids

I bought the kid one of those 50 cent watches. Naturally, he considered it the greatest thing in the world. Next evening when I got home he came running out all excited. "What do you think, I called central today just to see what time they had and they was just right."

(By Nissab)

CORONA

Corona is a living proof of the fact that it is not necessary to be large in order to have a personality. There are few towns, if any that are smaller than Corona, but you will find the picture and the memory of the little Southwestern hamlet sticking in your memory after the impression made by more ambitious centres has faded into the vague gray background of the past.

Corona owes some of its individuality to the enterprise of its citizens, but not all by any means. Of course, when a saloonkeeper labels the yellow false-front of his place of business with letters a foot high—

"Whiskey—The Road to Ruin!" you are likely to remember this town for a time, if only as a place where people have sentiments of an oasis in a country where most of the infrequent cities have gone dry by local option, and when some of the cow-punchers have ridden forty miles to look upon the cup that cheers, he regards that sign as a piece of exquisite facetiousness.

Corona lies high in the hills, as its name was intended to indicate. Around it stretches what is known as the "cedar belt"—the level around eight thousand feet, where the stunted round cedar trees of the near desert country thrive in thick frank grass. A sparse bunch-grass studs the earth beneath them, thickly starred with flowers. It might be an English park in spots, if only there were water; but the dry earth rises in red dust under the hoofs of stray cattle.

They slip about in the cedar scrub almost like wild things, those cattle, shy as deer, coming to the edge of the timber to stare at the town with nostrils of amazement. And the town stares back at them, a single row of wooden-fronted business houses, set high on poles with straggling hangers-on dotting the hillside behind them. You look them over and wonder where the people can be who used these stores, this bank, this high school, the services of these doctors and lawyers. But the people are scattered on a hundred ranches back in the lonely hills, engaged in that great game known as the winning of the west.

PRUDENCE OF THE PARSONAGE

By ETHEL HUESTON

The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"We've just been reading about your girls, sir," said the clerk respectfully. "It's a pretty nifty little bunch! You must be proud of them!"

"My girls!" ejaculated Mr. Starr. "Haven't you seen the morning paper? You're Mr. Starr, the Methodist minister at Mount Mark, aren't you?"

"I am! But what has happened to my girls? Is anything wrong? Give me the paper!"

Mr. Starr was greatly agitated. He showed it.

But the clerk could not lose this opportunity to create a sensation. It was a chance of a lifetime. "Why a burglar got in the parsonage last night," he began, almost licking his lips with satisfaction. "The twins heard him at their dresser, and when he stepped into the closet they locked him in there, and yelled for the rest of the family. But he broke away from them, and went downstairs and climbed down into the dungeon to get the money. Then Prudence, she ran down stairs alone in the dark, and locked him in the dungeon—pushed him down stairs or something like that, I believe—and then telephoned for the police. And she stayed on guard outside the dungeon until the police got him, and found it was Limber-Limb Grant, a famous gentleman thief, and your girl's are going to get five hundred dollars reward for catching him."

Five minutes later, Mr. Starr and his suit-case were in a taxicab speeding toward Union Station, and within eight minutes he was enroute for Mount Mark—white in the face, shaky in the knees, but tremendously proud in spirit.

Arriving at Mount Mark, he was instantly surrounded by an exclamatory crowd of station loungers. "Ride, sir? Glad to take you home for nothing," urged Harvey Reel. Mount Mark was enjoying more notoriety than ever before in the two hundred years of existence. The name of Prudence was upon every tongue, and her father heard it with satisfaction. In the parsonage he found at least two-thirds of the Ladies' Aid society, the trustees and the Sunday school superintendent, along with a miscellaneous assortment of ordinary members, mixed up with Presbyterians, Baptists and a few unclassified outsiders. And Prudence was the center of attraction.

She was telling the "whole story," for perhaps the fifteenth time that morning, but she broke off when her father hurried in and flung her arms about him. "Oh, papa," she cried, "they mustn't praise me. I had no idea there was a burglar in the house when I ran down the stairs, and if I hadn't been careless and left the dungeon unlocked the money would have been in no danger, and if the twins hadn't wakened me, I wouldn't have known there was a burglar about the place, and if Fairy hadn't kept me from rushing out to the dungeon to see if the money was safe, he would have got away, and—it took the policemen to get him out. Oh, I know that is not very grammatical, father, but it's just as true as if it were! And I honestly can't see that much credit is due me."

But Mount Mark did not take it so calmly. And as for the Methodist church—well, the Presbyterian people used to say there was "no living with those Methodists, since the girls caught a burglar in the parsonage." Of course, it was important, from the Methodist point of view. Pictures of the parsonage and the church were in all the papers for miles around, and at their very next meeting the trustees decided to get the piano the Sunday school had been needing for the last hundred years!

When the five hundred dollars arrived from Chicago, Prudence felt that personally she had no real right to the money. "We must divide it," she insisted, "for I didn't earn it a bit more than any of the others. But it is perfectly glorious to have five hundred dollars, isn't it? Did you ever have five hundred dollars before? Just take it, father, and use it for whatever we need. It's family money."

But he would not hear of this. "No," he said, "put it in the bank, Prudence, for there will come a time when you will want money very badly. Then you will have it."

"Let's divide it then—a hundred for each of us," she urged.

Neither the younger girls nor their father would consent to this. But when Prudence stood very firm, and pleaded with them earnestly, they decided to divide it.

"I will deposit two hundred and fifty dollars for the four younger ones," he said, "and that will leave you as much."

So it was settled, and Prudence was a happy girl when she saw it safely put away in the bank.

"We can get it whenever we really need it, you know," she told her father joyfully. "It's such a comfort to know it's there! I feel just like a millionaire, I am sure. Do you think it would be all right to send Limber-Limb Grant a letter of thanks for it? We were horribly scared, but—well, I for one am willing to be horribly scared for such a lot of money as that!"

CHAPTER XI
Romance Comes

Sometimes, Methodists or Presbyterians or heretics, whatever we may be, we are irresistibly impelled to the conclusion that things were simply bound to happen! However slight the cause—still that cause was predestined from the beginning of time. A girl may by the sheerest accident, step from the street-car a block ahead of her destination—an irritating incident. But as she walks that block she may meet an old-time friend, and a stranger. And that stranger—ah, you can never convince the girl that her stepping from the car too soon was not ordered when the foundations of the world were laid.

Even so with Prudence, good Methodist daughter that she was. We ask her, "What if you had not gone out for a ride that morning?" And Prudence, laughing, answers, "Oh, but I had to go, you see. 'Well,' we continue, 'if you had not met him that way, you could have met him some other way. I suppose.'"

"Oh, no," declares Prudence decidedly, "it had to happen just that way."

Better Meals With Less Work

What to have for the next meal is an eternal question with the average housewife. The family quickly tires of most foods and the range of eatables that they all like is limited.

This is why Holland Rusk proves such a boon to housewives. The dainty flavor of Holland Rusk appeals to everybody and the many ways it can be used enables one to serve it often and still keep the menu varied.

For instance, nothing makes a more delicious breakfast food, with cream and sugar, than Holland Rusk and it also most acceptably replaces hot rolls with the morning cup of coffee. As a shortcake or custard, it is ideal. It is an ideal dessert and no trouble at all to prepare. It is daintier and more quickly and easily prepared than toast. As a "first aid" to a dainty lunch, picnic or afternoon tea refreshments it is unequalled. Try this for Sunday night supper:

Cheese Fonda

2 cups Milk 1/4 cup Cheese 2 cups Holland Rusk Crumbs 1 tsp. Salt 3 Tbs. Butter 4 Eggs

Scald milk and add Holland Rusk crumbs, butter, cheese, salt and yolks of the eggs. Beat the whites smooth until stiff and fold into the first mixture. Pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes. Serve at once when removing from oven.

All grocers can supply this dainty Dutch delicacy. Phone yours to send you a package today. Write Holland Rusk Co., Holland, Mich., for book of new recipes that anyone can prepare in a few minutes with Holland Rusk.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

67 DAISY DEAN

Literally flying away from the studio will soon be the method of transportation chosen by Louise Glaum, the Triangle star, who has recently been taking lessons in aviation in Los Angeles. Under the skillful direction of a mechanic Miss Glaum is rapidly becoming proficient in flying.

Visitors and mechanics about the hangars were interested a short time ago to observe the talented moving picture star clamber aboard a tractor and start heavenward. However, keeping well in the background was a mechanic, who was coaching Miss Glaum in the business of adjusting levers and guiding the craft through the air.

"Some day I'm going to have my own aeroplane—then I won't have to rent one when I want to fly," she laughingly declares.

Campbell Forgot He Was Married

Now Webster Campbell, Vitagraph leading man, is absent-minded. That is, he forgot other things in thinking about his work. Those at the Hollywood studio recently saw him draw from his pocket a slip of paper and stare at it perplexed. "It looks like a property plot," they heard him say. "Six lamb chops, a peck of potatoes, a butcher knife and a can-opener." He walked to Director Wolbert to ask if Wolbert knew anything about the list, and as he was about to speak, he remembered. It was a list of purchases to make that Mr. Campbell had given him that morning. You see, Webster and Corinne Griffith were married recently.

Sees Screen As Great Teacher

La Monte Waldron, who supplied the basic idea for Pathe's "The Grip of Evil," has had an eventful life. Since graduation from the Albany, N. Y., High School, his career has been devoted to newspaper work in Albany, Saratoga, Washington, Philadelphia and New York. "I have contributed to Leslie's, Judge, Puck, Life and other periodicals and magazines," he said recently.

"Incidentally, I believe that the screen is the greatest teacher of the people that we have today; that it

William Garwood, with Lois Wilson, Scott Dunlap and company, went to San Francisco by boat. They returned by boat. They took scenes on the boat, and were 'all ill' for the scenes, violently ill. Miss Wilson begged to be allowed to interpret a real death scene, but truth demands the explanation that the scenes were made when the boat was hove to, both at San Francisco and San Pedro.

plain paper, it was very simple. Across the street from the parsonage was a little white cottage set back among tall cedars. In this cottage lived a girl named Mattie Moore—a common, unlovely, unexciting girl, with whom Romance could not apparently be intimately concerned. Mattie Moore taught a country school five miles out from town, and she rode to and from her school, morning and evening, on a bicycle.

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

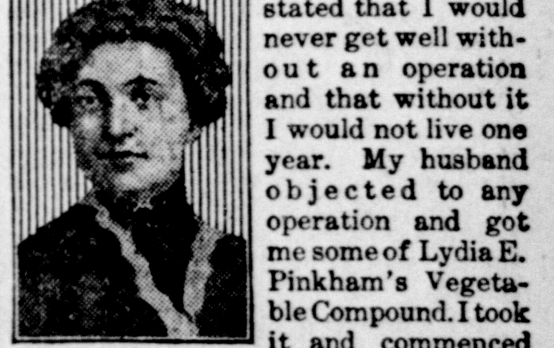

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced

MRS. TAGLAND RESIGNS OFFICE AT RUSHFORD

Treasurer of W. C. T. U. for Thirty Years Leaves Work on Account of Poor Health

RUSHFORD, Minn.—(Special.)—A special business meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held last Friday evening at the home of the local and district treasurer, Mrs. John Akre, in Brooklyn. The retiring treasurer, Mrs. L. Tagland, at this meeting, read her yearly report which showed a very satisfactory balance on hand in the union's treasury, with many plans for adding to this sum, in the near future. Because of poor health, Mrs. Tagland resigned the office of treasurer of the union, which place she has filled most efficiently for almost thirty years. Her place is taken by Mrs. J. Akre, who is also an excellent person for the position. At the special meeting, delegates were elected to the state convention of the W. C. T. U., to be held at Owatonna August 22 to 25 inclusive. Four delegates were chosen: Mesdames John Akre and Andrew Ness and the Misses Selma Laugen and Mattie Jursrud. Eight new members have recently been added to the union here, which now numbers ninety-one; eighty-seven active and four honorary members.

Social a Success
Though the evening was very chilly, last Saturday night's ice cream social, held by the Ladies' Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, was attended by a good crowd and a neat sum added to the treasury thereby.

Local and Personal
The Rushford W. C. T. U. will hold their regular parlor meeting at the Presbyterian church of this city next Friday evening. A somewhat lengthy program is in course of preparation and all are cordially invited to come out and listen, as well as attend the luncheon which will be served in the church basement.

Rev. George Stanley, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city, will preach the morning sermon at that church next Sunday morning. The services will commence at the usual hour, 10:30 a. m.

Miss Georgia McLeod is the guest of relatives and friends at Lake City. The Misses Nellie James and Cora Olson, salesladies at Smith's store, have both returned to their duties after enjoying their summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Anderson, Mrs. Herman Dahl and Mrs. Henry Hauge of Choice, and Mrs. Hage of Halstad, this state, were Rushford visitors last Thursday.

Theodore Anderson of Perry street was forced to go down to a La Crosse hospital last week Tuesday to consult with physicians as to the advisability of submitting to an operation. The operation was performed on the following day, or Wednesday, and the patient is recovering as well as could.

be expected. The trouble was in the nature of an intestinal obstruction. Mr. Anderson's sister, Miss Jennie Anderson, accompanied him to La Crosse and remained with him until the following evening.

Contractor Martin Nelson is obliged to hobble about on crutches now-a-days, having stepped upon a nail while working about his home, and though the injury is painful, he expects to be around as usual in a day or so.

Mrs. Katherine Johnson is the guest of her daughter residing in St. Paul.

LOUISE HUFF IN A CHARMING ROLE

Edgar Allen Poe painted a terrible word picture of the terrors of a man who believes that he is being buried alive. But the sufferings of that man were only momentary compared to those of the man who has voluntarily entombed himself in a great mansion after the loss of his dearly-beloved wife and child. It is the reported death of his family on a great ocean liner that drives the wealthy Mr. Carter to seek seclusion in "Destiny's Toy," a famous Players production which is the attraction on the Paramount program at the Bijou this week Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In this dramatic photoplay beautiful Louise Huff, who won such a personal success in the Famous Players adaptation of Denham Thompson's celebrated play, "The Old Homestead," makes her first appearance since winning a permanent place in that company's forces through her clever and appealing performance.

Verse and Reverse

OUR HERO
The man we like is the man who wins.
The man with a mighty will;
Who plods away
Through the heat of the day And journeys up the hill.
His is the hand we like to grasp;
He is the man that we would Clasp to our breast With friendly zest—
The man who is making good.
For whether it be on land or sea,
In peace or the bloody fray,
The men we cheer
Are the men who steer
A straightway course each day.
Not the man who falters and drops aside,
But the man who has boldly stood In the thick of the fight For the cause of right—
The man who is making good.
Then here's to the man today, say I, Who strives with a heart of steel,
With his manly form, Though envy's at his heel.
Yes, here's to the man who toils right on,
Though he be misunderstood;
I make my bow
To him right now—

ROBBERS BOLD

BIG MOB SCENES IN AZTEC PLAY

The operation of a system to handle "extras" was strikingly demonstrated recently at Inceville during the production there of "The Captive God," the "Triangle-Ince" Aztec story by Monte M. Katterjohn, in which William S. Hart is presented as star. This drama called for more "extras" than has any other play to date from the Ince corner of the Triangle. Its scenes include those of vast marching armies, stretching into the distance as far as the eye can see, and in making them for the screen it was necessary to engage between 2,500 and 3,000 men for a period of two weeks.

The problem of feeding the men at one sitting was solved by serving the luncheon buffet style. As each man passed a given point he was presented with a complete lunch, neatly wrapped. "The Captive God" comes to the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

HARDWICK ANSWERS SECTIONALISM CHARGE OF CANDIDATE HUGHES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Candidate Hughes on Tuesday was charged by Senator Hardwick of Georgia, with "waving the bloody shirt" because of his statement that the legislation of congress is controlled by Southerners.

"Should the republicans win this fall," said Hardwick, "Wyoming so small in population and wealth as to suggest pocket borough—would have in Senators Warren and Clark, the chairmen of the senate appropriations and judiciary committees.

"The republican candidate knows this seniority rule, but he believes in certain sections of the country he can stir up passion and prejudice."

FARMERS FIGHT TO GET $1.50 WHEAT

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 16.—Farmers of North Dakota, Minnesota, Montana and South Dakota, met here on Tuesday to combine to get a $1.50 a bushel for their spring wheat. Thousands of farmers who could not come to the convention, sent estimates of their crops. These indicated a general failure of the crop.

PLAGUE DEATHS INCREASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Further increase in the number of deaths and new cases of infantile paralysis for a period of twenty-four hours, was reported to the health department on Tuesday. One hundred and sixty-three new cases were reported Tuesday as against ninety-five Monday. Deaths from the disease were, thirty-nine, eight more than Monday.

OTTO BOSSHARD TALKS AT ESOFEA PICNIC SUNDAY

La Crosse Attorney Takes Part in Picnic Largely Attended; Pickups Beat Chaseburg

CHASEBURG, Wis.—(Special.)—In the beautiful, shady, Rentz Grove just outside the little village of Esofea, a picnic took place Sunday that was a credit to the promoters. Ideal weather prevailed, and there was nothing to mar the start at 10:30 when Otto Bosshard of La Crosse gave an interesting speech. The Esofea band did its best to entertain the crowd during the morning. About two o'clock the Viroqua city band arrived, and for the remainder of the day beautiful music floated out from amongst the trees.

Various games of luck and chance were scattered about the grounds and received liberal patronage.

Dance at Dusk
At dusk dancing was commenced in the bowerly and continued until about one o'clock.

Promptly at two o'clock the Chaseburg ball team took the grounds, and soon was engaged in a game with a pick-up team from various points Coon Valley, Westby, Esofea and Stoddard players being in the lineup. Hanson of Westby threw a good game for the Pick-ups and after the third was never in danger.

Anderson Pitches
Anderson pitched for the locals and went along good until the third when he blew up and before the side could be retired, seventeen runs had been partnered off his delivery. However, ragged support behind him contributed to the opposition's run getting. After the third Chaseburg seemed to take delight in booting the ball every throw resulting in an error. The final score was, Pick-ups, 25; Chaseburg, 8.

Persons
Miss Mabel Finstad spent Saturday evening at Stoddard with friends. G. A. Hosmer returned from La Crosse Monday after a week-end visit. R. G. Beston and George Forster of La Crosse were here on business Monday.

Miss Gertrude Hosmer and brother John of La Crosse were visitors at the Oehler home Friday.

Miss Dorothy Gardner is spending a few days at Viroqua.

A large number of Chaseburg people autoed to the Esofea picnic Sunday and took part in the merry making.

INDIANS VOTE FOR LIQUOR WHICH THEY WILL NEVER TOUCH

BEMIDJI, Minn., Aug. 16.—Beltrami county's county option returns were still very close Tuesday, but whether or not the county goes dry, it certainly will stay dry. The entire county is within Indian treaty territory. Uncle Sammy quite assiduously keeps it dry, as provided by the treaty.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 16.—The Canadian troops have withdrawn from the bloody Ypres salient, after occupying the position for upwards of a year. The salient has not been abandoned, but other British troops have been assigned to the defense of it while the Canadians have been sent to the Somme district, to assist in the general defense there, official dispatches said Tuesday.

FIRST HOSPITAL TRAIN LEAVES

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The government started its first hospital train for the border Tuesday from the Pullman company shops here. Its destination is San Antonio, Texas.

It has a service car, a combination of first aid and surgical car, six cars for patients, a sleeper and a combination baggage and library car and a kitchen.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

GREAT AMATEUR CAST

IN "COUSIN JIM"

"Cousin Jim" has for its cast, the most expensive group of amateurs in the world. Not in salary perhaps, for salary is no object to those who participated, but in individual wealth, tastes, surroundings, etc.

Not everyone has the opportunity to see society at play, but in "Cousin Jim" we are taken behind the scenes, and shown the very elite of Chicago's society, not professional actors mimicking them, and all for the benefit of Chicago's Red Cross fund.

Nor is "Cousin Jim" merely a parody of society leaders. There is a story, a strong gripping story, with characters ably portrayed by the best in the film world, but there is also to be seen society in its most unconventional mood, doing all the stunts of seasoned movie actors for the benefit of the film.

"Cousin Jim" and the "Million dollar cast" will be seen at the Casino today and tomorrow.

PROFESSIONALS OUT AFTER BIG STAKES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 16.— The frolicsome foursome of Tuesday, when golf professionals from over the middle west cantered over the Blue Mound Country club course combining cards with amateurs as partners in order to get a fine best ball score, gave way Wednesday to real work. The professionals alone went out early today for a thirty-six hole medal scoring event with nearly $600 in cash divided ten ways, dangled before them as inducement to "shoot their heads off."
The amateur-professional event of Tuesday ended in the playing off of a triple tie for all the prizes offered, there being three best ball cards of 69 to contest for the three prizes of $225 in all for the professionals, and a watch and other trinkets for the amateurs.
The three winning pairs and the order in which they were divided after the play-off follow: Jack Hutchinson, Pittsburgh, and W. Langford, Chicago; second, Otto Hackbarth, Cincinnati, and Howard D. Plimpton, Milwaukee; third, J.
M. Barres, Philadelphia, and Joseph Leduc, Chicago.

Snake Found in Chicken Nest at M'GREGOR, IOWA

Mrs. Walter Davies Discovers White China Eggs in the Stomach of Black Reptile
M'GREGOR, Iowa.—(Special.)— Mrs. Walter Davies, who lives on a farm near McGregor, had been suspicious for a week that some agent other than herself was gathering eggs from the nests in the chicken coop. Yesterday afternoon she heard a commotion among the poultry and on hurrying out to the hen house found a large black snake curled up in a nest. She called her husband and he killed it. On picking it up he noticed a lump in the snake's body which felt hard to the touch.
Curious as to what it might be, he cut the snake open, when out rolled a nice large white china nest egg.
Make Big Catch
P. Schumacher, F. Huebsch and Walter Weston yesterday made a catch of one hundred and fifty sunfish and seventeen black bass, some of the latter weighing two to three pounds. A cat fish weighing ten pounds was caught by another fisherman. Fishing in this part of the Mississippi seldom has been better than it is this summer. Large strings of fish are brought in daily. Commercial fishermen are also making fine hauls. Two who work together have been receiving better than a hundred dollars a week from their sales.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Don't eat bite of breakfast until you drink glass of hot water.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.
Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervous wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a vibrant, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.
An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.
Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation.
We must remember that inside cleanness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

HOME FOR AGED WOMAN PLANNED BY SPARTANS

Building Intended for Hospital May Be Converted Into Retreat; Methodists Will Be Asked to Raise Fund

SPARTA, Wis.—(Special.)—The Western Wisconsin Methodist conference, meeting soon, will be asked to raise a fund of $10,000 with which to endow a home for aged women here. Part of the fund has already been raised, and an executive board, which will act for the present, has been appointed.
A building for the home has been donated by Miss Mary Morrow.
She recently purchased the Clarence Thorbus property on South Water street, intending to give it to the local physicians' association. Plans were changed with the erection of St. Mary's hospital in Sparta.
Miss Morrow desires that the building be a memorial to her late parents, the Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morrow.

Women Making Ready For Emergencies At Western Chevy Chase

LAKE GENEVA, Wis., Aug. 16.— More man has been recognized at the women's military training camp, which formally opened here today.
Guarding the sleeping beauties will be led to cadet detachments of Northwestern military academy. Four campers will make the rounds at 11:30 o'clock each night, after which the cadet outposts will be the sole protection.
"General" Vylda Poe Wilson said the women "rookies" will in their two weeks' courses do one-third more work than was attempted at the Chevy Chase camp.
Clad in khaki skirts, olive drab flannel waists, regulation army hats and tan shoes, the 150 women rookies are making themselves ready "for any emergency." They started the first day by undergoing a course in military calisthenics. They will do it before breakfast every day for two weeks.

The women rookies were ready for the muscle making exercise at 6:40.
Breakfast is served at 7:30, police call at 8 o'clock, inspection at 8:30.
Drills, classes, lectures and entertainment take up the remainder of the day. Taps is sounded at 9:30 p. m. Sundays the women arise half an hour later than on week days.
Church at 3 p. m. is extra on Sundays.
The courses include home care of the sick, knitting and plain sewing, signal work, first aid, diets for the sick, surgical dressings, plain and wireless telegraphy, automobile and ambulance driving.

"The women are in earnest, too," said Mrs. Vylda Poe Wilson of Washington, who is directing the course.
Mrs. Wilson and her sister, Miss Elizabeth E. Poe, were the first to think of a National Service school for women. The first was held at Chevy Chase, near Washington in May and was such a success that San Francisco demanded one in June. A fourth school will be held in Rhode Island some time in September.

By taking revenge, a man is only equal with his enemy; but in passing the injury over, he becomes greatly his superior.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

VIROQUA, Wis.—(Special.)— Eastern Star ladies and the Masons and their families went to the Stoll cottage on Tuesday where they spent the afternoon and enjoyed a picnic supper.
The Methodist Sunday school will go to Camp Tate Thursday for its an-

the Methodist Episcopal and Congregational churches have spent one day each year at the picturesque Coon Valley camp. Nearly two hundred children attended the Methodist picnic last year and it is thought a still larger number will attend this year.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Casperson are enjoyed a visit from the former's mother of Union City, who came Tues-

100 YEARS OLD

"The kidneys play a most important part in causing premature old age and death—the more injurious the poisons passing through the kidneys the sooner comes decay"—so says a distinguished physician, who further advises all people who are fast thirty to preserve the vitality of the kidneys and free the blood from poisonous elements, such as uric acid —to drink plenty of pure water—sweat some every day and take "Anuric" before meals.
This "Anuric" is put up in tablet form, and can be obtained at almost any drug store. For that backache, lumbago, rheumatism, "rusty" joints, swollen feet or hands, due to uric acid in the blood, "Anuric" quickly dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. It was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.
Prevent old age by simply sipping a cup of hot water every morning before breakfast, take a little "Anuric" before meals and live to be a hundred.

Somme Front Inferno

Forrest Writes From British Headquarters of the Great Allied Drive in the West

Country Is Disolated

BY WILBUR S. FORREST

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN THE FIELD, July 20.—(By Mail.) If it's possible to imagine dozens of heavy thunderstorms blended into one continuous roar, the shrieking and whining of tons of unseen steel and high explosives racing through the sky, lightning flashes of bursting shells continuously specking the horizon like a giant Fourth of July display, then it's partly possible to visualize the newest phase of war on the western front.

The United Press correspondent saw and heard all this today from a high stretch of ground commanding the scene of a dozen of the bloodiest and most terrible conflicts of the British drive. Dotting the green hills and valleys here and there were distinct blotches of brown visible among the green hills. These ugly blotches on the landscape a short time ago were pretty villages, each with a church spire and red topped houses snuggled down between the rolling hills. Today they were merely ugly blotches. Each is typical of the other —mostly a pile of bricks that resembles nothing.

From the vantage point were observed Contalmaison, Bazentin-le-Grand, Montauban, Laboisselle, Ma-metz and several small woods which have figured prominently in the communications. Just beyond the range of vision lay Longueval and Delville wood, where at the moment the Germans were engaged in a heavy counter attack which gave them back a part of the wood and a few houses of the village. A British counter attack soon reversed the situation.
Fighting of this character has been a specialty of the British offensive.
Of the captured points, all are strongly held. Whenever the Germans concentrate their reserves and carry out a counter drive, any success they gain is of short duration. The systematic British advance makes it possible to retaliate quickly, usually in force.

No Apparent Shortages Precaution prevents publication of news relative to the troops and movements of troops, but it can be said with safety that there is no shortage of shells or men or guns behind the British line. From the viewpoint of the non-military observer there is no shortage of anything.

For miles along the network of country roads well behind the fighting lines, great masses of men in khaki, most of them wearing the pictureque steel helmet, are awaiting their return. Motor lorries in great droves are also performing their functions. Passing along the roads, miles and miles to the rear, khaki is everywhere.

Peaceful little villages, which fate has left so near the ravages of the conflict yet still untouched, are filled with it. Every doorway shows a "Tommy." Every corner shows a group of "Tommys." These men are in billets. Many of them have had their turn at the fighting and are taking a well earned rest. Others have freshly arrived from England, as can be seen by the newness of their uniforms. The veteran fighting "Tommy" is a trifle more stained.

Roadside training fields with de-

FOUR SPEAKERS WILL WELCOME THE NEW SECRETARY

Mayor Bentley, John Mulder, A. L. Goetzmann and J. J.
Felber Chosen to Talk at Smoker

Mayor Arthur A. Bentley, John Mulder, representing the Progressive league; A. L. Goetzmann, representing the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' bureau, and Joseph Felber, representing the Retail Merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce were selected on Wednesday as the speakers for the Chamber of Commerce "Get-together" smoker, to be held at 8:30 tomorrow night at the Hotel Stoddard.

They have been given five minutes each in which to make their addresses.

The talks will be responded to by James R. Kinsloe, new executive secretary of the chamber.

"We plan to fill the evening with "snap," one of the committee on arrangements said today. There will be music and a few stunts. A buffet lunch will be served.

The "Get-together" is being planned as an informal reception to Mr.
Kinsloe.

ALEXANDER MADE CHAIRMAN OF THE RAIL COMMISSION

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 16.—Walter Alexander, member of the railroad commission of Wisconsin, has been elected chairman. Until a few days ago the commission has been operating without a chairman since the resignation of Halford Erickson in May. Commissioner Carl D. Jackson, who was the oldest member of the commission from the standpoint of length of service, was a candidate for the position. Mr. Alexander, who was selected as the chairman, was appointed by Gov. Philipp to succeed David Harlowe of Milwaukee.

LESS THAN BLOCK OF SEWER RESULT OF QUARTER'S WORK

son & Screen of Chicago have collected from the city. Just a little over $3,000 of the $40,000 worth of work has been finished. The monthly estimates submitted last week was for only $1,122. City officials point out that July, the month for which the estimates was submitted, was an ideal month for sewer work, with scarcely any rain, and more than a score of fair days in which the work should have proceeded rapidly.

"The contractors had less than ten men on the job a few days ago," said Alderman W. F. Strauss, chairman of the council sewer committee.
"I have heard no reports that they have increased their activity."

Abandoned Tunnel
"The trouble is that they began the work by attempting to tunnel.
The sand on Mississippi street made this method impracticable, and they have been forced to resort to open ditching. But there have been delays which seem unaccountable. It is more than five weeks since the tunnel method was abandoned, and still the contractors have not finished the first block of the sewer."

Mr. Strauss said that a meeting of his committee and the contractors was held in the mayor's office several weeks ago, in which the councilmen were unable to get any satisfaction from the builders.

"They told us not to worry, that it was their lookout if they failed to finish under the time-limit," said Mr. Strauss today. "That is true enough, but the city is paying an inspector $70 a month to examine the work, and he has nothing to inspect."

Citizens Object to Blockade Mr. Strauss also said that property owners on Mississippi street between Ninth and Tenth street are complaining against the continued blockade of the street by dragging sewer work.
It is pointed out that delays now will seriously endanger the possibility of completing the work on time.
The months remaining for the work include the long winter in which work is impossible. Frost sets in early in the autumn, and work cannot be resumed until the middle of April at the earliest.

May Tie Up Improvement That a delay in completing the trunk sewer may mean great dissatisfaction and delay in building the Seventeenth street main and laterals to tap the big residence section south and east, is the fear of officials in touch with the situation.

Contractor Confident
"There is no question that we will finish the contract on time," J. J.
Peterson, the contractor in charge, told THE TRIBUNE when asked about the situation. "We found that the method we started with wouldn't do, and there has been delay in changing our system. But our new rig will be here in a day or two, and then we can get to work."

Mr. Peterson also said he had met with difficulty in finding men to work on the job. He has "about a dozen" employed at present, he said.
When the new equipment comes, he will want at least thirty, he said.

NEW METHODS OF CLEARING DEBTS PUT TO MAYOR

League of Badger Municipalities Hears Novel Suggestions at Oshkosh Convention

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 16.—The League of Wisconsin Municipalities opened its thirteenth annual convention here this afternoon with addresses of welcome by Mayor John Mulva and W. D. Polylock of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association. Former Mayor Wolfe of Fond du Lac, president of the league, responded.

The special committee on bonded municipal debt presented and recommended three plans either of which, if carried out, might be successful in alleviating the burden of public debt. The committee stated that "the necessity for remedial steps becomes evident from reports received from fifty cities of this state."

"The report shows," it is stated, "that the principal of the outstanding debt of the communities reporting has increased from $4,969,520.31 to $9,216,419.46 within the last ten years outside of the city of Milwaukee."

One of the plans is to have the national government provide means to convert municipal bonds into currency direct, instead of through the agency of national banks.

Another plan contemplates the establishment of a "Wisconsin State National Exchange Bank, which should be located at Madison and whose primary object would be to convert municipal bonds of the legal sub-divisions of the state into national currency."

consumes in one day: * Fresh beef, 18 ounces; * baking powder, 8 ounces; * beans, 24 oz.; potatoes, 20 * ounces; prunes, 1.28 ounces; * coffee, 1.12 ounces; sugar, * 3.2 ounces; pepper, .04 * ounces; cinnamon, .14 ounce; * es; lard, .64 ounces; butter, * 5 ounces; syrup, .32 gills; * flavoring extracts, .014 ounce.

* twelve pounds of oats and 14

INFORMER BETRAYS IMMATURE PLOT TO SAW OUT THE JAIL

other conference with the prisoner who informed him. The man told the complete story of the planned jail breaking and of a scheme on Monday night to disable Under-sheriff Ritter.

Sheriff Ritter was out of the city on Monday night and Under-sheriff Weber was left in charge of the jail. The men were all left in the jail corridor in the day time, and all the prisoners in the jail heard someone shout late Monday afternoon:
"The sheriff has left town."

When Weber locked the cell doors on Monday night, Brown and Mason left their cell door open a fraction of an inch. All corridor doors lock automatically, and are shut by the prisoners themselves. The lock of the cell in which Brown and Mason were confined was sprung through their leaving it partly open. The trick had been tried before and Weber knew of it. Mason and Brown immediately began calling for him to come and fix it. Weber contented himself with locking the outer door.

The informer says that the two men had planned to lure Weber into their cell and then slug him.

TELLS OF WORK DONE FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE IN THIRD DISTRICT

TOWER HILL, Wis., Aug. 16.— Miss Ada James of Richland Center reviewed the work which has been done for equal suffrage in the third Wisconsin district in speaking before the informal conference of suf-fragists here Wednesday. Mrs. Helen McDowell of Kenosha, new field organizer for Wisconsin, related experiences. Mrs. M. A. B. Smith, Madison, spoke on the necessity of suffragists co-operating with other organizations in the state.

once rejected a peer and declared she would marry an American, became the bride Wednesday of the Earl of Cottam, whose first wife was accidentally shot through the heart while hunting three years ago.

TELEGRAPHERS REPORTED TAKING STRIKE VOTE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 16.— Northern Pacific railroad telegraphers are taking a strike ballot, it was learned Tuesday. The strike may not become general with the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. Railroad managers claim the men demand a ten per cent wage increase, shorter hours and two weeks vacation with full pay. Officials of the railroad and union, during several conferences, failed to get together.

CORRESPONDENTS TELL OF FIGHT FROM RIVALS ARMY HEADQUARTERS

Worst Of Russian Offensive Is Over Ackerman Is Told

By CARL VON ACKERMAN

HEADQUARTERS OF FIELD
MARSHALL VON HINDENBURG'S ARMY, Aug. 16.—"The worst of the Russian offensive is over," one of the highest commanding officers on the eastern front told the United Press Wednesday after a tour of inspection of the Austro-German lines.
Completely halted at the Stochod river in their efforts to retake Kovel, the Russians, undaunted by this failure, have shifted their attacks southward, always striking against the Austrians.

"The temporary successes of the Russians in the southeast is desperate strategy," said a German officer, "because the faster they advance with their left wing in the southeast, the more they weaken the position of their right wing along the Stoch-od."

Austrians Surprised
It is admitted here that the Russians caught the Austrians by surprise at the beginning of the offensive. Aeroplanes reported Russian troops massing behind the Russian front, but no one believed the Russians as strong as they have been discovered to be. The Russian tactics kept the Austrians guessing for several weeks, but now the whole Austro-German front is re-organized and the earlier Russian advantages are being overcome.

The fall of Stanislaw and Goritz were admittedly unpleasant, but viewed strategically, have a different meaning, according to German military men.
These reverses are completely outweighed by the Russian failure to reach Kovel and Lemberg.
We bivouaced Tuesday night near the front where the Russians on August 8 attempted a great offensive.
I walked for two hours in the front line trenches watching German eleven-inch shells bombarding the Russians. Major von Cheller, former attache of the German embassy at Washington, and Captain P. Behn, former German consul at Denver, explained the lay of the surrounding country. We also visited the headquarters of General Bernhardt, who is commanding an army of this front, but he was suffering from influenza and unable to receive us.

Sky Lit By Fires

The night scene at the front was entrancing. The sky was lit by countless fires about which the companies were encamped within a few hundred yards of the Russian positions. The hands played and the soldiers sang. Not a single cannon was fired. There was a nightly truce.
The Russians occasionally shot light cartridges to illuminate the fields between the trenches and prevent a surprise attack.

Far off in the distance an Austrian battery was pounding the Russian railroads.

The new armies on this front are composed of Polish, German and Austro-Hungarian troops, which officers said, illustrated the new spirit of comradeship and is a sure indication of the strength of the central powers.

MORE AUSTRIAN TRENCHES FALL TO THE ITALIANS

ROME, Aug. 16.—Italian troops captured Austrian trenches on the slopes of Monte Pecina south of Goritz and in the neighborhood of Cortina and San Marco, taking 353 prisoners, it was officially announced Wednesday.

DENIES GERMANY HAD DESIGNS ON DANISH ISLANDS

BERLIN, via wireless to Sayville, L. I., Aug. 16.—Foreign Secretary Jagow today flatly denied that Germany ever had any designs on the Danish West Indies, in commenting on English reports that it was feared that Germany would buy the islands as the first step in an assault on the Monroe Doctrine that inspired the United States to negotiate for their purchase.
"I only know of these reports through the newspapers," said the foreign secretary, "but of one thing I am absolutely certain, that is, that Germany is antagonistic to nobody and has no intention of disturbing the sovereign rights of any power in that part of the world."

EMBARGO ON GRAIN IS ANNOUNCED BY B. & O. SHIP SHORTAGE CAUSE

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 16.—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad Wednesday announced that beginning at once, an embargo would be placed on export grain through the port of Baltimore. Lack of ships was given as the cause for the embargo.

HEART DISEASE KILLS HORSE

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 16.—Ilo Tolus, sired by Pat Tolus, a product of the O. E. Folk breeding establishment at Riverside, Cal., dropped dead of heart disease here Wednesday night.
Ilo Tolus was seven years old and held the mile trotting record on the coast for a half mile track. The mare was sold last week by Folk to A. B. Hunter, of New Madrid, Mo., for $2,000.

Wood Describes Great Artillery Battle On Somme

BY HENRY WOOD

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES ON THE SOMME, Aug. 16.—A thirty mile horse shoe of solid artillery fire, one of the most terrific shell blastings in the history of the world, is drawing a line of flame along the Somme battle front.

The artillery reached its greatest intensity as I arrived at the highest point on Dompierre plateau, southwest of Peronne. The day before the French had captured German third line positions from Hardecourt to Buscourt. At the precise moment of my arrival, the French were employing all their great artillery strength to protect their newly acquired positions. The Germans were shelling even more desperately in an effort to dislodge the French and launch counter attacks.

Struggle Stupendous
The stupendousness of this great artillery struggle was indescribable.
The curving line of fire extended from the French positions before Clery, north of the Somme to St.
Quentin, thence south to the region of Peronne and southwest to Barleau, Estrees and Soyecourt. Shells of all calibres, both shrapnel and high explosives, burst at every instant at every point along the entire front with a rapidity that defied counting. For one lone interval, by a seemingly miraculous intervention, I was able to count off fifteen seconds when not a single shell exploded. Immediately thereafter the fire was resumed with redoubled intensity.

Balloons Hover Overhead

Equally impressive as this thirty mile unbroken semi-circle of artillery fire, was the thirty mile horse shoe of French observation sausage balloons overhanging at a great height the entire battle front. Their wireless instruments were directing the French fire.

At the same time, innumerable French aeroplanes darted in and out among the sausages, crossing and re-crossing the German lines every minute.

Yet, despite this great activity of France's air forces, not a single German aeroplane appeared either for the purpose of chasing back the French, attacking the French sausages, or for reconnoitering.

Pass Desolate Villages

Pushing ahead from Dompierre into the shell zone, our party progressed toward Blaches, barely a mile from Peronne and the most advanced French position. We passed the villages of Becquincourt, Herbecourt, Asevelles and Flaucourt, all of which were so completely levelled by shellfire that I was unaware we were approaching them until I found myself treading their levelled bricks.

Sacred Figure Unscarred

At the entrance of the former site of Becquincourt, there remains standing in the road, corner a slender wooden cross, bearing an eight-inch miniature statue of Christ. A yard away a shell had mowed down a giant fifty-year-old tree, also carrying away one arm of the cross. But the figure of Christ remains untouched, pathetically viewing the empty space that was formerly Becquincourt. It is the only thing left standing in the entire village.

A few minutes after passing this spot, shells coming from the German batteries at Soyecourt, six miles away, began bursting near the intensity of the German bombardment forced our retirement from the Dompierre plateau. By a circuitous tour, we arrived at a dominating position north of the Somme, facing the point where the French and German lines crossed the river before the beginning of the French offensive July 1.

At this point a desperate struggle which followed the previous day's capture of German third line positions was still progressing. This new position also brought us into closer contact with the French artillery lines.

Duel Increases Late in Day

The artillery duel gradually grew in intensity towards the close of the day until the hail of shells flying over from the batteries in the hills and valleys in the rear fairly made one's head swim with its intensity.
It was only upon realization that the French were firing, not by guns nor by batteries, but by whole successive lines of artillery, many of them extending miles in length, that I was able to grasp the extent of French preparedness in heavy artillery for this advance on the Somme.

Towards sundown the German fire diminished. The French fire likewise lessened, giving the impression that the day's struggles had ended with the French still holding their recently conquered positions between Hardecourt and Buscourt and before Clery, an impression which the evening official communique confirmed.

BELIEVE NO LEGAL ACTION RECOMMENDED BY FEDERAL PROBER

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Edward N.
Hurley, chairman of the federal trade commission, who has been here in connection with an investigation of rises in flour and wheat prices from the industrial standpoint, planned Wednesday to leave for Washington Thursday. He will lay what facts he has obtained here before government officials. It is not believed his presentation will recommend legal action by the government.

As a result of the jump in wheat Tuesday, bakers' grade flour was selling half a dollar higher at $7.25.

HAWKEYE MAN IS SELECTED TO HEAD THE HIGH SCHOOL

Samuel E. Tift Arrives in the City from His Home in Oelwein,
Iowa

SERVED ON THE COAST

Was Principal of Big Institution at the City of Bellingham, State of Washington

Samuel E. Tift, Oelwein, Iowa, has received the appointment of the principalship of the La Crosse High school, made vacant through the appointment of Former Principal B. E.
McCormick to the superintendency of public schools, which Superintendent L. P. Benezet resigned in June.
This was announced officially by William Luenig, president of the board of education, on Wednesday, with the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Tift from Oelwein.

Mr. and Mrs. Tift are for the present residing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tourtellotte, 813 Cass street.

Mr. Tift comes to the La Crosse high school with high recommendations. For three years he was principal of the high school at Bellingham, Washington, which has about 750 students. Prior to that he was the head of schools at New Albion, Ia., Malaca, Minn., and Wykoff, Minn. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa.

"SCOOP" JOHNSON SURPRISES FRIENDS BY HIS MARRIAGE

Roy Johnson, better known as "Scoop," one of the proprietors of the La Crosse Vulcanizing company, and Miss Mary Carlson, La Crosse, were married in Winona, Minn., on Tuesday. The wedding was a surprise to the majority of the friends of the young people. They will reside at Seventh and La Crosse streets.
Johnson is a son of Casper Johnson, head barber at the Linker barber shop.

RIVALS STUBBORN NEITHER A D M I T ANY GROUND GIVEN

sidering a six month's trial of the proposition comprising an eight-hour day and present rates of overtime.

An indication that the general situation is such as to give cause for some uneasiness is found in the fact that the president deems it advisable to appeal directly to the 600 members of the employees' general committee now in New York awaiting developments. These men have been asked to come to Washington and President Wilson will speak to them in the big gold room of the white house probably tomorrow afternoon or Friday. The appeal to the general committee is made at the suggestion of the employees' sub-committee, who believe if the men they represent can hear from the president the same arguments presented in conference here, they will yield on points the sub-committee is now compelled to stand by.

As the day began in Washington, there could be said to be no change in the general situation. Each side claims the other has yielded nothing.
Both sides have presented counter-proposals and both seem anxious to arrive at a satisfactory settlement.

In conceding the basic principle of the eight hour day—though they claim it highly impracticable as applied to railroad operation, the managers have brought the issue squarely down to negotiations on how to dispose of the collateral issues.

When President Wilson on Tuesday completed his second day of negotiations the end was not yet in sight.

After a conference which lasted for an hour and thirty-five minutes with the railroad employees' representatives Tuesday afternoon, it was announced the president would see both sides again Wednesday.

"We are not yet through," A. B.
Garretson, spokesman for the brotherhoods said, as his committee left the white house. "Nothing as yet is done; nothing is undone. We have made no concessions."

The employees Tuesday afternoon presented a counter-proposition, the nature of which has not yet been disclosed.

TO CUT OFF RETURNS AND DECREASE SIZE OF PAPERS IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 16.—All daily newspapers of Milwaukee have agreed to cut off returns in the sale of their papers with the view of relieving the paper famine. It was announced Wednesday. The size of the papers also will be reduced. It is estimated the papers will save from fifteen to twenty-five tons a week.

STRANGE POISON CAUSES DEATH OF TOMAH HORSES

Three Animals Die Few Hours After Eating What Is Believed to Be Poisoned Hay

EXPERTS ARE BAFFLED

Assistant State Veterinarian Can Reach No Conclusion as to Poison; Paralysis Caused

TOMAH, Wis.—(Special.)—Three valuable horses owned by John Bocan have died here within the last four days from a poisoning which expert veterinarians have failed to identify. The poison was contained in hay which was fed to the animals.

The first horse to die lived but two hours after eating the hay. He stood only a few minutes after munching several mouthfuls and could not rise. The second horse to die lived two days, and the third lived about thirty hours. A fourth animal is expected to die.

Dr. Clawson, assistant state veterinarian and Garman, former state veterinarian have been in Tomah, investigating the horses' deaths. They failed to identify the poison, and took specimens to Madison, to be tested. The outcome of the tests has not been made known.

The organs of the third horse to die were examined in an effort to save the fourth horse from death. This did not aid the veterinarians, they said.

The poisoning causes an acute form of paralysis of the spine.

Six Foot Letter Written to "Blub" By 37 of Friends

Private Joseph Tikal of Company B, who is better known by the euphonious title of "Blub," will receive within a few days a bulky envelope containing what his circle of friends believe to be the biggest letter written to a La Crosse militiaman since the mobilization of letters from sweethearts excepted.

Thirty-seven of "blub" Tikal's friends, gathered at the B. B. Barbershop, Ninth and Hood streets, joined in inscribing the missive Tuesday night. It was written on a strip of paper taken from the roll which covers the headrest on a chair in the shop. The dainty little note is five feet, ten and a half inches long, and six inches wide.

Those who say there is no God would be glad to believe it, hence the dispute about religion and the practice of it seldom goes together.

PROMINENT SOUTH DAKOTAN BURIED AT SPARTA MONDAY

Colonel Frank Crane, Born in Sparta, Was Clerk of Dakota Supreme Court and Was on Staff of Governor

PROMINENT REPUBLICAN

Held Office of Chairman of the South Dakota State Central Committee for Number of Years

SPARTA, Wis.—(Special.)—The body of Colonel Frank Crane, brother of the late Edward Crane of Sparta, was brought to this city from Washington, arriving Monday morning.

The funeral service was held from the Big Creek church, conducted by Rev. J. T. Morgan of Medford, Wis., who was assisted by Rev. G. T. Notson, D. D., of Mitchell, S. D., formerly pastor of the First Methodist church at Pierre, S. D.

Born in Big Creek

Mr. Crane was born in Big Creek in the town of Sparta, December 25, 1855, was reared here and attended school here, and also the Galesville university. He studied law in Yale university.

Mr. Crane went to Watertown, S. D., in 1881. He was county superintendent of Codington county schools and later state superintendent of South Dakota schools.

In 1901 he became clerk of the supreme court, serving in that capacity for ten years. He was chairman of the republican state central committee of South Dakota for a number of years, was on the staff of Governor C. M. Herried during the latter's term, having the rank of colonel.

Married at Sparta

Mr. Crane was married to Martha Crouch in Sparta, December 26, 1882. She survives him.

Mrs. Edward Crane and daughter Agnes are residents of Sparta. Hon. O. L. Branson, Mitchell, S. D., a prominent banker; former State Senator Rev. G. T. Notson, Pierre, S. D.; Mrs. Augustine Davis, New York; Mrs. C. L. Crouch, Washington, D. C., and Herbert E. Grouch of Buffalo, N. Y., were among those from out of town who attended the funeral.

Mrs. Crosby Weds

A wedding of much interest to Sparta people is that of Mrs. Grace R. Crosby and William P. Hitchcock, which took place August 8, at 11 o'clock, at the residence of the bride on Monroe street.

Rev. Harding R. Hogan performed the ceremony, using the ring service. Only immediate relatives were present. A dainty dinner was served, following the ceremony, by the Misses Marion Crosby and Jennie Hitchcock.

At 1 o'clock the couple departed for Lake Nashota, where they will spend a couple of weeks, after which they will return here to take up their residence at the home of the groom on the Angelo road, just north of the city.

Married at Winona

Miss Nona Kurtzman, daughter of the late Albert Kurtzman, and Tom Borgeson slipped quietly out of town Monday, going to Winona, where they were married. Upon their return to the city Tuesday evening a number of friends met them at the station with autos and gave them a hearty welcome and a very noisy escort home.

Mr. Borgeson is employed in the Sparta Monumental works. Both young people are well and favorably known here and the good wishes of many friends are extended to them.

Local and Personal

HUGHES ADDRESSES OREGON VOTERS WHO HELD OUT FOR HIM

Further Attacks Made on Alleged Inefficiency of Administration; He Gets Great Welcome at Seattle

BY PERRY ARNOLD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 16.—Charles E. Hughes preached his doctrine of "America first and America efficient" in Oregon Wednesday—the state which, despite his protest from the supreme bench, instructed for him in the primaries. He was expected to make at least two speeches and members of his party were authority for the statement that he would cite more concrete instances to support his claim of democratic incapacity for efficient government.

Tuesday at Tacoma he added a new charge—that it required a republican emergency currency measure to tide the democrats through the panicky days just at the beginning of the Wilson administration. It is known the governor has recently received a great deal of data from headquarters of the national committee at New York, including one $75 telegram.

Great Reception at Seattle

Seattle Tuesday night accorded the republican aspirant for presidential honors, the greatest demonstration he has yet received. Eight thousand jammed the hall and a thousand more jostled outside pounding vainly on the doors for admission.

Cheers For Teddy

Vociferous cheers greeted Hughes' first direct reference during the tour to Roosevelt. He did not mention the name of the former president, but the reference was unmistakable. It was in connection with a satirical reference to the democratic claim of "excitability," when preparedness first became an issue. Hughes said:

"Then a stalwart figure appeared before the American people, told them a few things, and then the administration changed its mind."

Hughes bitterly assailed the democratic control of the army and navy and promised "competent and efficient men" in the army and navy portfolios if he was elected.

"You've got an empire here in Alaska," he said again, "I want to see it developed," and the crowd yelled its approval in roof-raising volume. Again the cheers came when after declaring he had been associated in corrected abuses he declared not in Alaska or elsewhere "is anyone going to pull anything out if I know of it."

CUTTING DOWN THE SURPLUS MAKES MICHIGAN PAPERS PAY

(From The Editor and Publisher.)

On July 19 the Bay City (Mich.) Tribune was purchased by the Booth Publishing company, the owners of the Bay City Daily Times and several other leading daily newspapers in Michigan. With the issue of August 1 the morning issue of the Tribune was discontinued, and the Bay City Times-Tribune, exclusively an afternoon newspaper, appeared.

Changes in the newspaper field in Michigan are of peculiar interest to the publishing world, and particularly at this time, when so much is talked about newspaper values and future conditions and changing prices.

In the fourteen leading cities of the lower peninsula of that state, about twenty years ago, there were forty-one daily newspapers. At present there are only twenty-three. The most remarkable fact in this relation is that in each of nine of these "out-ridden cities there is now only one daily newspaper published, with the result that all of them are strong, vigorous, and successful. The people have come to a realization that this condition, which they once greatly feared, is after all, most desirable and satisfactory. It has given them better newspapers in all respects and papers that are independent in politics, and whose editorial policies are characterized by judicial fairness.

Mr. Booth's Many Deals

The man who has had most to do with this movement is Ralph H. Booth, president of the Booth Publishing company, who has been concerned in a round dozen newspaper deals within the last ten years.

However, the Booth Publishing company only controls three of these one-newspaper fields, and perhaps the most notable change that has taken place recently was that of the Kalamazoo Gazette, which was one of the most successful morning papers in Michigan. This paper switched to the evening field, and within a week had absorbed the Telegraph-Press.

Mr. Booth was asked by a representative of The Editor and Publisher about the future of Michigan newspapers in the light of what has been taking place. His only answer was that there was small likelihood of any new newspapers being started in that state, and that there would undoubtedly be further eliminations.

Mr. Booth has predicted less newspapers for the last fifteen years, it was about that many years ago that he tried to get the leading successful publishers of Chicago to co-operate with him in a movement to reduce the number of newspapers in that city to six, but he received small encouragement. They seemed to think it was something of a dream. The next five years, he believes, will see a remarkable number of changes in other states such as have been occurring in Michigan.

HOW THINGS HAPPEN

By CATHERINE CRANMER
(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Alberta Randall announced to her parents one evening that she intended to break away from the well beaten path of her female ancestors by adopting a career the effect was much the same as if the rusty old revolutionary cannon on the court house square had opened fire upon her native town of Moorsville.

"Now, daughter, no dramatics," said her father.

"I don't want to be dramatic, father, but I can't face the thought of doing for all the rest of my days the aimless things I've been doing ever since I left boarding school."

"Just what specific work do you propose to do for the rest of your days?" Her father's directness was disconcerting.

"I can't tell until I've seen more of the world, but I've got money enough left from what grandmother gave me to go to New York and look about until I can make up my mind."

"Alberta," began her mother, with barely enough breath left to gasp, "you would deliberately throw away a splendid matrimonial opportunity for you know you could marry Lashley Graves tomorrow if you'd say the word. Why, the whole town knows that!"

"Yes, mother, the whole town knows everything that any one person in it knows; but if I ever marry I'll marry a man who is making things happen and not one who sits and talks of what some of his ancestors did."

"If you go off on this wild goose chase, your chances to meet any one person in a business way will be few and far between. Have you thought how you will be looked upon if you go alone to New York without a definite object?" Her father eyed her sternly.

"Yes, and I may take a course in applied arts. It will take only part of my time, and in my leisure I can decide upon my permanent work. Some day you'll be proud of me," she added lightly.

"Some day, about a month after you land in New York, you'll be good and glad to come home," said her father.

"Thomas," said Mrs. Randall, in dismay, "you don't intend to let her really attempt this impossible thing?"

"Yes, let her have a fling at her career; it's the surest cure for the fever," said Thomas Randall, with finality, as he resumed his reading.

The weeks passed until Alberta had been in New York six months without her father's prediction coming true. After considering various fields in which she might realize her ambition to "make things happen," she had decided upon interior house decoration as the least doubtful and discouraging for one of her talents and training.

After a year's hard study, she began to plan a vacation at home before taking up headquarters in a studio building, but just then her services were sought by a firm of decorators whose approbation meant much to a beginner in the profession. They employed Alberta to furnish and decorate a modernized colonial country house from the spacious porches of which the Hudson was visible through the big trees in the park in front. She took hold of the work with enthusiasm and made a great success of the house, as well as of an old fashioned flower garden on the grounds. Of the owner of the place she knew only what the head of the decorating firm had told her—that he was "a cranky bachelor with too many hobbies to bother with what he considered a woman's job."

When Alberta completed her work and started for a visit to her parents she could not restrain a sigh of regret at leaving the lovely house to its eccentric owner, who might not even appreciate its beauty.

"My dear child," said her mother, in greeting Alberta, "you are much the same, though changed, too." To Mrs. Randall a "career" seemed a vague means of transforming a woman into some unlovely hybrid.

"So you fooled your dad by making good in the melting pot did you?" Her father was plainly proud of her, which made Alberta very happy.

After dinner the family went out upon the front veranda, and from where Alberta sat she could see through the trees a low, white stucco building surrounded by a smooth lawn with its gravel walks bordered with petunias.

"Who had the ingenuity to make such a beauty spot of that old vacant lot opposite Wellington's?" Her inquiry brought a twinkle into her father's eyes.

"So you are surprised that there are folks in sleepy old Moorsville who can make things happen, are you?"

"Yes, and also curious. Who built that house? It reminds one of a contented white cow standing in a shady pasture."

"It is one of many gifts to our city from enterprising young citizen. It is a resting place and general rendezvous for tired women shoppers from the country, or for visitors in town between trains. Since the old public square is being converted into a civic center, this town is sought by the tourists," Mr. Randall chose to be non-committal.

"Nobody but your old friend, Lashley Graves," said her father quietly. "And here he comes now to pay his respects to the prodigal."

Following her father's glance, Alberta saw Lashley Graves alight from a shining roadster at the curb. As he came up the walk she saw that he had changed greatly. A firmness of step and a steadiness of carriage had transferred his lazy nonchalance into a commanding dignity. She began to think he was altogether different, but when she looked into his eyes as he took her hand in greeting she knew that his feeling for her had not changed, and it was not an unpleasant discovery. Half an hour later, she coaxed him to take her in his car to see the new civic center and other improvements which were coming into being as a result of his activity and generosity.

"You've really accomplished wonders, Lashley!" exclaimed Alberta.

"Then thank yourself, Alberta. I've merely taken your tip to 'make things happen,'" said Lashley, with a smile.

"Oh, how did you know I said such unkind things?" a crimson blush accompanied this contrite question.

"Luckily for me, I overheard your remarks to your parents about me one evening, and withdrew my hand from your doorbell and went out into the night to face myself and see why you felt contempt for me. When I reached home I found a special delivery letter telling me my great aunt had left me all her wealth. I told you, but went to see her lawyers. The day I returned you left for New York and I went to work to make something happen that you would think worth while."

Alberta kept her eyes downcast to avoid the gaze which she felt Lashley was turning upon her as the machine glided along a quiet and unobstructed street.

"But you too have accomplished wonders, Alberta," Lashley's voice became tender and ardent and pleading. "That place on the Hudson is a dream. I kept the identity of the owner from you so that you would carry out your own ideas entirely, for I dared to hope that you might some day consent to share home and happiness with me. Do you think that day will ever come, dear?"

"I believe it has come now," whispered Alberta, "for I don't know which I love more, you or that darling house on the Hudson."

POSTAL EMPLOYEES IN BORDER SERVICE WILL GET POSITIONS BACK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Positions of men employed in the postal service who went to the border with the militia will be given them on their return, according to announcement at the postoffice department Tuesday.

In denying a report that militiamen were being dropped permanently from the rolls because of their absence due to service on the border, Postmaster General Burleson referred to an order of June 26, last. This order specified that "where it becomes necessary to fill temporarily the position of any officer or other employee who is absent on such military or naval duty, the officer or employee will, if necessary, be dropped from the rolls without prejudice, and will be reinstated to his former position and grade in accordance with civil service rules and regulations."

PHILLIES MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF GIANTS SERIES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 16.— A base on balls to Byrne, Cravath's single and a double steal by these players gave Philadelphia the only run of Tuesday's game with New York and enabled the home team to make a clean sweep of the series of four contents.

The visitors got only one man as far as second base and none to third base. The score: R H E

47 PER CENT OF BADGER STUDENTS ENTER SPORTS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 16.—With a claim that there are less "book worms" attending Wisconsin university than ever before, the athletic board gave out statistics which show that 41 per cent of the students engaged in some form of athletic work during the last semester.

Of the 3,478 men, 1,460 joined an athletic squad or gymnasium class.
Track, the most popular sport, was the first in number of members.
Baseball was second. Spring football is not included in the list.

HAMMER TO PITCH
HAY FOR TRAINING
CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Up at five
a. m., then a day of pitching hay will be the new training stunt of Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, who is scheduled to meet Johnny Dundee of New York, in a bout at Kansas City, Sept. 11. Hammer was enroute to Ethel, Mo., today, where he has a job on a farm waiting him.

KEELER IS NAMED ASSISTANT MENTOR AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Former High School and Varsity Star Will Aid Sputh in Turning Out Winning Teams at Local Institution

Ray M. Keeler, otherwise known as Tubby, has been named assistant director of athletics at the La Crosse normal school it was announced by Director of Athletics Carl B. Sputh, Wednesday. The recommendation of Keeler was approved by President F.
A. Cotton Tuesday.

Keeler, who while at the University of Wisconsin was named on several all-western teams, is one of the greatest football players ever developed at the state institution. With Cub Buck, he was the mainstay of the 1914 team, at his left guard position playing a game nationally famous. He was graduated in 1915.

Tubby, before going to the university, was a member of a state championship La Crosse high school team, playing under Jack Wilce, former Wisconsin athletic instructor and now director of athletics at Ohio State university.

That a herculean task awaits Keeler and Sputh is seen in the fact that only three regulars of last year's team are expected to report for work this fall. They are Grounds, Detroit, a back fielder; Harry Grausnick, Winona, another back field man; and Miller of La Crosse, end. The mentors have been unable as yet to even get a line on prospective material.

Keeler will be in charge of athletics while Sputh is in Chicago for post graduate work at the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat college. Sputh expects to leave Friday to be absent a month.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Tuesday's Hero
A tie proposition. Wallie Pipp and Roger Peckinpaugh for the Yanks each whacked out a home run and a single, giving the Yanks an even break with the Mackmen.

Dick Rudolph, in downing the Dodgers, won his eighth consecutive victory.

Konetchy was a hitting demon.
The Braves' first sacker cracked out a pair of doubles and a triple, each one of the hits figuring in the run getting.

KAUFF SAYS HE LIKES GIANTS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 16.— Denial that he "can't hit it right" with McGraw and his New York Giants was made here Tuesday afternoon by Benny Kauff, former Federal league star, when told that rumors said he wanted to be switched to the Chicago Cubs.

"Nothing to it," grunted Benny.
"I am satisfied with the Giants."

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Milwaukee, 4; Louisville, 1.
St. Paul, 5; Columbus, 1.
Minneapolis, 5; Toledo, 0.
Indianapolis, 6; Kansas City, 4.

Jack Barry scored the winning run for Boston when Gardner got his third hit of the afternoon, a single.

It means that NEW quality, in a cigarette, that does for your smoking exactly what a drink of cold water does for your thirst!

To satisfy, a cigarette must do far more than just
"please" you—it must let you know you've been smoking.

That's what Chesterfields do—they satisfy! And yet they're MILD!

For the first time in the history of cigarettes, here's a cigarette that satisfies and yet is mild! Chesterfields!

Other cigarettes may be mild, but they don't satisfy.

BUT, Chesterfields satisfy—yet they're mild!

This is new enjoyment for a cigarette to give. It is something that no cigarette, except Chesterfields, can give you—regardless of price.

Why?

Because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield

Chesterfield CIGARETTES

"No Wonder They Satisfy!" (—and yet are MILD)
It's the pure Turkish tobacco in Chesterfield Cigarettes that does it. The famous Chesterfield blend contains the highest-quality Turkish tobacco—CAVALLA for its aroma; XANTHI for its fragrance; SMYRNA for its sweetness; SAMSOUN for its richness.
